To Whom It May Concern,

Dante Ramirez was a student in my math class at Mountain View High School several years ago. He also played on the high school football. He is a bright young man and was a pleasure to work with both in class and on the field. I was always impressed with his cheerful demeanor, his intelligence, his personable nature, and his perseverance in adversity. He is hard worker. He got along well with teammates. I felt like Dante was a great contributor to our team unity and spirit. His team really rallied around him.

Dante is a great young man, and I recommend him for your consideration.
